You Can't Win, Cooke 528

THOSE WHO look for universal and high enlightenment to effect a perfect and permanent peace will be disabused if they will only analyze the effects of education, per se, upon the passions. Does it lessen vanity, ambition, or greed? Is bigotry less fanatical? Not at all. They are enhanced, while at the same time the breach in human concord is further widened by the lessened ability of the intellectual to endure the wrongs and pains of tyranny and avarice. — CAPTAIN WILLIAM WALLACE.
